Continuation of 11. does NOT place the application in condition for allowance because: In the remarks section of the response Applicant states "executing a search query" is not required for the claims to be in compliance with 37 CFR 101. Applicant recites the steps of "...determining the at least one media file to the search query ..." and "outputting a result set referencing the at least one media file ..." is an example of a useful concrete tangible result. The examiner found this statement convincing during an interview; however respectfully maintains the rejection. Note, the limitation "determining the at least one media file associated with the search query" does not necessarily mean "the received search query" is executed. Also, the preamble of the claim does not clearly define the claims overall function. Regarding the prior art Appplicant argues Bar does not capture an event as recited in the claims. Barr et al. teaches retrieving digital video and audio information to a search topic these are examples of capturing events see col. 38 lines 42-48, also note Figure 6 element 117, col. 12 lines 54-65. The examiner respectfully maintains the rejections.
